

Knibb Victorious at T100 San Francisco

Sunday, June 9th; San Francisco, CA - The T100 Triathlon World Tour matches 20 of the world's top male and female triathletes in a series of eight 100K races around the world. Each race comprises a 2000m/1.2 mile open water swim, an 80K/49.7-mile bike, and an 18K/11.2-mile run. At the second stop on this year's tour in San Francisco last weekend (the first was in Miami on March 9th), the NYAC's Taylor Knibb romped to an almost four minute victory, claiming, along with it, the $25,000 first place prize. Knibb crossed the line at 3:38:01 with Kat Matthews (GBR) second in 3:41:48 and Laura Philipp (GER) third in 3:45:07. After coming out of the water 23 seconds behind leader Imogen Simmonds (SUI), Knibb gained ground on the 80K bike portion and quickly assumed the lead. Of the race, Olalla Cernuda of World Triathlon wrote, "By halfway into the bike course, Knibb's lead to second-place Kat Matthews (GBR) was over 2 minutes, the Brit clearly positioning herself as the best of the rest. [...] With impressive pace for an athlete considered a swim-biker just a couple of years ago, Knibb continued to dominate once she'd laced up her running shoes, lapping athletes over 4km behind her on the course. Behind, Matthews was running with her usual aplomb while Emma Pallant-Browne (GBR) picked off a couple of places in a fleet-footed performance. Facing no threat to her maiden T100 victory, Knibb took in the crowd's adulation on her way to a 3:38:01 finish, earning 35 points and $25,000." Click here for full results from San Francisco. Knibb will compete in both the triathlon and the cycling competition at the Paris Olympic Games. Joining her on the US triathlon team will be NYAC athletes Morgan Pearson, Taylor Spivey, Kirsten Kasper and Seth Rider. The men's Olympic triathlon will take place on Tuesday, July 30th at 2am EST; the women's race will be on Wednesday, July 31st at 2am EST. The mixed team relay will happen on Monday, August 5th at 2am EST.
